

WHAT THE AMERICAN FLAG MEANS TO ME

The American Flag means a lot to me. It represents important things like freedom and independence. It can also bring people together. The American Flag is very special.

The American Flag is very important to me. It can prove that no matter who you are, you have rights to do things as much as anyone else does. It tells the world that you as an American person mean something to the world. The American Flag makes you feel like you could do something that you never knew you could do before – even if you have a challenge in your life, like blindness.

I think it would just be great to have a Braille Flag in America. It would be like showing freedom and independence for blind people. This flag means a lot to me, but a Braille flag would just be amazing. It would show some people that blind people can do a lot more than they ever thought they could do before. Having a Braille flag might just tell people that we can do great things like even invent things or be the President someday.

I know that I will never be able to do things like be in the army, but having a Braille flag would make me feel like I am a member of this country. It would give me hope that maybe one day, I could find a way to serve our country, and someday be able to wear the Braille flag proudly.
